CCC . . . In Step With Academics

Opportunities at Cleveland Community College are extremely varied. We exist for adults with varying needs and levels of skills. Whether its updating job skills, learning to read at a higher level, or getting credits that will transfer to a four-year school, there is something at CCC to help you reach your goal.

Part of the offerings at CCC include college transfer programs and associate degrees in General Education and Communications Technology and two-year degrees in Accounting and Business. The Computer Programming Department prepares students for a wide variety of jobs as does the Industrial Management curriculum which trains supervisors and middle-management personnel for industry.

Also available are Executive Secretarial, Medical Secretarial, and General Office Technology degrees along with Fashion Merchandising and Marketing Technology.

Other two-year programs include Criminal Justice, X-Ray Technology, and Electronic Engineering.

Offerings are numerous and varied, so come to CCC and . . . take a good look at us now.

The Business Computer Programming curriculum prepares students for employment in the rapidly growing field of computer programming.

Growing In The Right Direction

In the 1988-1989 school year the building program at Cleveland Community College continued with the addition of the new student activity center. This facility will house a new gymnasium-auditorium, meeting rooms, offices, classrooms, a gameroom, a student lounge and an indoor walking track.

It is expected that the student activity center will greatly increase student involvement at CCC by increasing the space for more active games such as basketball, volleyball and jogging. We also expect to have pool tables in the game room.

Many more club activities are expected according to Adrian Wyrick, Student Government Association advisor, giving students and faculty more opportunity to get to know each other and improve student faculty relationships.

In addition to the student activities center, an outdoor amphitheater has been approved by the board of directors which should be completed sometime in 1989. This new facility will be located just below the activity center and beside the tennis courts. The new amphitheater will bring more community theater to CCC and to Shelby and Cleveland County as a whole. The drama department expects to see a lot of growth upon its completion.

As our facility grows, so does our student population. Since receiving Community College status in 1987 enrollment has steadily increased and we expect that trend to continue.

If you are looking for a better opportunity and a brighter tomorrow, come to Cleveland Community College and ... look at us now!

Students get hammered 33-12

Faculty Finally Wins One!

In a brilliant burst of athletic prowess, the Cleveland Community College faculty skunked the students 33-12 in the student-faculty softball game for what is probably the first and may be the last time. (We'll have to wait until fall and see!)

Some say the game was rigged — that the faculty ran in a ringer. It seems we will never know, but chances are that CCC students will not take it lying down.

As you can tell, the students and faculty at CCC do communicate. Finding a more friendly, co-operative spirit would be hard to do.

Twice each year the Student Government Association (SGA) sponsors student-faculty festivities which help foster closer relationships and this year was no exception.

We gave our new outdoor cooking facility at the field house a great break-in by cooking about 300 hamburgers on it. They were served with all the trimmings along with potato chips, baked beans, cold drinks and hand-dipped ice cream. The entertainment was provided by Paula Larke, our visiting artist.

There are numerous other student activities here at Cleveland Community College — like plays, art exhibits and concerts just to mention a few. We feel that we have something for everyone both academically and culturally at CCC and our growing student body seems to agree.

With instructors that are continually willing to give of themselves to help students reach their full potential we will see continual growth.

Paula Larke — Visiting Artist

The Department of Community Colleges and the North Carolina Arts Council are responsible for the visiting artist program. Cleveland Community College has been involved in this program since its commencement, providing an opportunity for our students and our community to benefit from a wide variety of creative talents.

During the 1987 school year we were fortunate enough to have Paula Larke as our visiting artist. A native North Carolinian, Paula was raised in Mocksville and Winston Salem. Tremendously talented, she sings, acts, directs and plays several musical instruments. She has performed on Broadway and has toured with a wide variety of theater groups.

Paula does classroom performances at CCC, works with the drama classes, performs for civic groups and works with visiting artists from other colleges. She is also on the publicity committee of Habitat for Humanity, on the board of the Abuse Prevention Council, and a representative for Cleveland Community College on the Arts Council.

Obviously Paula is an extremely busy person but she always has time to speak and seems to never forget a face or name.

When asked what she liked most about Cleveland Community College she replied, "the friendly support that the staff and faculty have given to my projects."

Those of us who have been fortunate enough to see Paula Larke on stage, to see her take control of an audience, have no problem understanding why she gets that support. She is truly an inspirational talent.

Student Life At CCC

Student life at Cleveland Community College is as varied as students want them to be. There are numerous clubs and organizations to be involved in, from Student Government Association (SGA) and Gamma Beta Phi to the Drama Club and Le Club de Esprit which is comprised of Fashion Merchandising students.

There are numerous opportunities for students to discover their hidden talents. There are a number of plays each year which students may try out for, photography and art courses for those with artistic abilities and desires. The offerings are too numerous to list but you can be sure there is something here for everyone.

The spirit of the CCC faculty is one of enthusiasm and each one works to challenge students to realize their full potential.

Campus life also consists of friendship. Many students find their life long best friend here at CCC. Someone once said, "A stranger is just a friend you haven't met yet," and you will find that especially true during your time here.

"Opportunities are here for students to get involved at CCC through the various clubs. Our students are very motivated in educational goals and we look forward to them becoming more involved in extra-curricular activities in the new student activity center."

Learning Can Be Fun

Education doesn't have to be dull and boring all of the time. Sure there are English and history classes at Cleveland Community College but you will find that even the tough courses are often balanced with a little dose of humor.

We always look forward to holidays and special events at CCC because you never know what you may get to see next. Not only faculty and students but even our administration likes to get in on the festivities.

events are the Halloween costume contest when students and staff get a chance to really let it all hang out. It's a day when sometimes your best friend wouldn't recognize you. Of course there is Valentines Day when we get to send homemade cupcakes and candy to our friends and "sweethearts."

Don't misunderstand — we to teach very traditional educational values, but we wouldn't let that get in the way of having a little fun.

"The faculty has been very friendly and helpful during the last year and a half that I have attended CCC. Had I not come to CCC I wouldn't have met my two best friends Lou Ann and Ellen. Together we will survive the X-ray program."

Faculty In Action

The staff and faculty at Cleveland Community College like to get involved. Whether it's a club or organization that they advise, participating in Spring or Fall Fest or helping to build a new building, our people are interested and take part in every facet of campus life.

Of course some of our people do get caught off guard sometimes and naturally the ol' school photographer takes that opportunity to poke a little good-natured fun at them. But please don't misunderstand, these are very sincere, hard-working and dedicated instructors (most of the time.) It's just that we want you to see that they are more than just instructors. They're not only highly motivated teachers but are just as efficient when it comes to other school activities such as cheerleading, cooking hamburgers or just digging through the trash, huh Barbara?

All kidding aside, we think that you will find our instructors here at Cleveland Community College to be the best anywhere. They are always ready to help their students succeed in achieving their goals.

"This is a nice place to work. Everybody gets along. We all pitch in and help one another. We sacrifice when necessary and go the extra mile to help the students. It makes us feel good to know that we helped a person to make it."

— Madge Wray

Phillip Philbeck

Phillip Philbeck, a Pre-Liberal Arts major at CCC, is basically a self-taught artist. His goal is to get a four-year degree in art and become a self-supporting artist. Phillip considers himself a romantic realist painter and from the work he is currently producing, there is no doubt he will be successful.

CAMPUS EVENTS

1989 College

Cleveland Community College held its 2nd Annual College Transfer Day on January 31 for students considering a transfer to a 4-year school. Thirty college representatives gathered in the gymnasium from around North and South Carolina to help students decide what college is best for them.

CCC's Student Services provided students with access to catalogs of North and South Carolina Colleges and Universities and provided information sheets detailing what will transfer from CCC to these schools.

Students find CCC's Career Day to be a lot of fun.

Career Day 1989

Over 1200 Cleveland County juniors and seniors participated in the third annual Career Day activities held February 15, 1989.

This popular event gives students the opportunity to hear and question speakers about various career choices.

There were speakers on campus presenting information on business, graphics, journalism, drafting, agriculture, computers, education, legal and medical and many other areas of interest.

Carolyn Mints from WBTV, Charlotte, N.C., discusses careers in communications.

Sergeant Steve Goodson from the United States Air Force talks with potential new recruits.

Francine Henderson, Assistant Chief Technologist at Cleveland Memorial Hospital talks to students about careers in Radiology.

Tom Brennan of Charlotte shows aspiring artists possibilities in the field of graphics and commercial art

Warren Goforth, Kings Mountain police chief, discusses careers in criminal justice

Sigi Plus

Sigi Plus is a new addition to the campus Career Development Center. According to Adrian Wyrick, Director of Student Activities "This computer enhances career counseling and aids students in making a career choice."

The Sigi Plus program has been specially designed to meet the needs of anyone in search of career guidance. High school and college students can use it to obtain basic information about the requirements of different occupations.

Working adults will be able to explore the different levels of the system to find ways to use present skills in new careers. Adults entering the work force for the first time or after a long absence can get practical information about using past experiences as a base for the future.

Instructor Nancy Hopper helps students prepare for new career goals.

Development Program

The Human Resource Development (HRD) provides prevocational training and counseling for unemployed and underemployed adults. HRD is located in the Learning Resources Center (LRC) at Cleveland Community College.

Students in the HRD program enroll for approximately seven weeks of instruction. The curriculum includes an orientation to the workplace, and instruction in human relations, which are essential to securing and maintaining employment.

The goal of the HRD program is to prepare students for successful performance in the work force. The primary objective is to reduce unemployment and underemployment by making it possible for the participants to become and remain productive employees.

Upon graduation participants receive assistance with job placement or opportunities for skills training.

Carolyn Petty, HRD coordinator, works with students on a one to one basis to assure their success.

1989 ANNUAL STAFF

A lot of work goes into producing a yearbook. Many hours are spent thinking about how pages should be designed and how that design theme can be carried throughout the book: What events should be photographed? Will they happen before the deadline? Have we allowed time for getting them printed? Then there's writing cutlines and body copy — how do you make it different each year?

This year the job was done with a lot of student participation. This adds to the spirit of the yearbook and we hope that in the years to come more students will participate.

We have enjoyed producing the 1989 Cleveland Community College yearbook and hope you will enjoy reflecting on the past year.

As you can see, yearbook production is not all work and no play. A lot of work was accomplished; however, thanks to a faithful annual staff consisting of (top photo) Dan Nantz; Steve Martin, advisor: Dawn Templeton and Christy Sain. Also, special thanks to Susan Cayton, Rusty Fleming and Pam Sharts for all their help.
